PROGRESSIVE SUGGESTION FOR FUTURE

Talk about progressives. Well, there are times when progressive ideas and the fellow first advancing them are sneered at, criticised, made sport of, ridiculed and even called crazy, fanatical and the like, yet frequently has—maybe a year, possibly two years or so later—those very critics amble along and begin to recognize a good thing by moving the smoked glasses from their eyes, take up, adopt and propagate just those same "progressive ideas" advanced by the original progressive fellow, and claim credit, honor, and everything in sight. Well, it's no matter, probably, just so the world or the people get the benefit.

The writer may be a progressive or on the other hand a fossilized old fogy, but as everybody about Monessen is advocating improvement along the line of advanced ideas, a thought comes to our mind which can be termed progressive or otherwise.

Wouldn't it be nice, wouldn't it be a general convenience if Monessen had an overhead ferry or hanging trolley we might call it, leading across the river to a point, say half way up the hillside, to Eldora Park, and a penny incline from there to the hilltop thus leading to a fine pure, healthy country, where millmen and others could live, high and dry and clear of all fog, smoke or the like? We say, would'nt it be nice? We believe it would be practical.

Of course this is just a theory, one of those advanced ideas, you know. But just suppose that the Monessen station be made on Schoomaker avenue, say at about Eighth or Ninth street. A heavy cable stretched from that point to the proposed point on the other side of the river. Then suppose again, that a basket car be swung from that cable on pulleys sufficiently large to carry ten or twelve people at one time. Wouldn't that be nice? Wouldn't it be convenient? Monessen is now getting more people than she has good homes to accomodate.

This "advanced idea" of ours would give the people of our town the advantage of employment in a busy center, yet living in the country with horses, cows, pigs, chickens and the like. A good home, shade trees around the house, good spring water and everything healthful.

Of course this may be one of those crazy ideas—advanced by an advanced or progressive idea crank, but we just wonder if such a thing wouldn't be practical, good for the town, and whether some time in the future it may be a reality.

AUTOMOBILE DRIVEN DOWN FOURTH STREET

One of the most daring and sensational feats in driving an automobile that has ever come to our notice was that performed by Seward O. Fleming of Charleroi, salsman for the Spencer Auto Garage of that place when he drove his 20 H. P. Buick runabout down Fourth street hill from McKee avenue, something that has never been done by any person and a "stunt" that no one will attempt to duplicate very soon because of the danger connected with it.

Shortly after 12 o'clock when the streets in the vicinity were crowded with pedestrians and men returning home from work, Fleming started from the top of the hill in his car which has already seen three years of hard wear, but still as the driver puts it "sticks together" just the same. Without swerving an inch from his downward course and looking back every now and then to see that everything was alright he made the descent amid the thunderous applause of hundreds who had gathered along the street and at the base of the hill After making the perilous trip Fleming without the least bit of concern drove smilingly up Donner avenue and returned to Charleroi.

FREE LECTURE TO BE GIVEN BY A TITANIC SURVIVOR

Wednesday evening at 8 o'clock, in the Christian church, a free lecture will be given by Mr. Williams, a survivor of the Titanic wreck, who was aboard that ill-fated vessel on his way to America from Wales, and while he was unfortunate in a sense, he was fortunate enough to be among the saved. Mr. Williams had an awful experience, being in the icy waters of the Atlantic ocean for three hours, and he'll tell a story most dramatically interesting. Since getting safely to American shores he has procured a position as traveling salesman for Lutz & Schram Pittsburgh and while in Monessen takes this opportunity of telling our people some of the exact truths about this great and terrible disaster—So don't miss hearing him Wednesday night.

PROMINENT MILL OFFICIAL RESIGNS POSITION AT PAGE TO GO TO JOHNSTOWN, PA.

The information comes as a complete surprise to many Monessen folk that D. S. Muckley, of the Page Woven Wire Fence Co. has tendered his resignation and will go to Johnstown July 1st., to assume charge as general superintendent of the rod and wire mill of the Cambria Steel Co. of that place.

Mr. Muckley has been associated with the local Page plant for six years, as general superintendent, coming here from Sharon where he was associated with the American Steel & Wire Co. in a responsible capacity.

Mr. Muckley has become identified with Monessen's commercial and social interests to a degree that causes his departure at this time to be recognized as a misfortune, as he was progressive and ambitious along all lines of civic betterment, and he and his family are great helps to the moral and religious uplift and progress of our town. It is with much regret to Monessen's best citizens that Mr. and Mrs. Muckley depart to other fields of labor, and we can only rely on the consolation that our loss will be their gain, and the fullest wish of Monessen's good people is that the associations about the new home, commercially and socially may be most pleasing in every possible way. Mr. Muckley has the highest respect of his associates about the local mill and it is with much regret that the ties and associations formed during the six years are broken and every good wish of the boys goes out for his future success and prosperity.

SOME GOOD-SIZED FIRES DURING MONTH

Fires during the month of May according to the report handed into the council numbered 10 and will cost the borough in services rendered by the firemen a total of $70. This is one of the biggest reports that has been handed in for some time and the money thus secured by the firemen will be applied on their building fund which is fast getting to be a good sized sum.

Of the ten fires during the month only three were of any great size, the Southern Furniture company on May 3 was perhaps the greatest. The firemen received $24 for their work in this case and they certainly earned the money for the fire had gained a big headway in one of the most dangerous places in town for a fire. The fire which destroyed the store of Carmen Tucci on the morning of May 8 caused a damage of $7,000 and the firemen also did good work at this fire and were given $21. The only other fire of any size was that of the J. A. Reppert print shop which was damaged more by water than anything else. $7 was received for this fire. Each fireman is paid at the rate of 50c per hour for work in fighting fires and they turn the entire sum received over to their building fund. A handsome brick structure is to be erected next to the borough building on Donner avenue by the boys as soon as this sum reaches an amount sufficient to warrant the start of the work.

Mr. and Mrs. Paul Gaither of Brownsville are the proud parents of an eight pound baby daughter which arrived yesterday. The Gaithers were fomerly of this place.

UNKNOWN BODY FOUND ALONG RAILWAY TRACK

At 3 o'clock Sunday morning a train crew south bound on the Monongahela Division of the P. R. R. found the mangled body of an American young man lying on the tracks near the Riverview. The body was picked up and taken to the undertaking rooms of Scurfield & Hodgson, Monongahela, where it awaits identification.

There was no means of identification except on the hat band was found the name of Wilson & Wood, Indiana, Pa., supposed to be where the hat was bought. In the pocket was small hand brush on the back of which was cut the words, "Dick's Brush." In the pockets were two cakes of soap, a towel, 47 cents and two cheap rings. He was apparently 25 years old and of blond complexion. Word has been sent to Indiana in hopes of finding friends of the young man.

It's said that Warren G. Harding, former Lieutenant Governor of Ohio has been chosen by President Taft to make the nominating speech and present his name to the convention which opens in Chicago tomorrow, June 12th.

McSHAFFERY WHOLE SHOW AT THE STAR

The bill at the Star theatre last night was a ripsnorter. It was laugh, laugh, all the way through and everybody went home happy and in good condition to sleep.

Talk about that man McShaffery as an actor. Well, it may be he's not been in the harness for some time, but he's not forgot "how" yet, by a long shot. "A stranger in New York." That was Mac. A little weezened, dried up Irishman, in the city to see the sights and take a whirl at the "bunco steerers, and he surely did see them. But he took it all good naturedly, putting up "Five per" for everything he got, and some things he didn't get, until tired out, he pulled up in a "first class" hotel for the night, where conditions are such that he don't sleep much. In the morning he gets a shave in the "crazy house," and he gets it, alright. Will McNulty is the hotel keeper and makes it lively for his guest. McShaffrey in his comedy role surely did bring down the house. Kelly and Parks in a comedy kid act are good, as was also Bobby Burns in Jew and Italian character work. The pictures opening and closing make a fine show. Remember, if you can't laugh don't go tonight.

Presbys. vs. St. Leonards

This evening the Presbyterians and the St. Leonards teams will clash in a game in the Church League and from indications the contest will be well worth seeing. The St. Leonards team have yet to lose their first game and they will try hard to keep their slate clean this evening while the Presbyterians are just as confident that they have something up their sleeves that will make their opponents travel at full speed. The game will be called at 6:15 sharp.

Something Good at Olympic

Tonight—Tuesday, at the Olympic theatre, the two best subjects will be, "Two Fools There Were," and the "Soldiers Last Call." In the first, two brothers love the same girl, and even go so far as to attempt to kill each other for her, when they discover her engagement to another. The rest you must see. The latter play is a story of a Yankee and Southern soldier, very pathetic and interesting. Don't miss seeing these great pictures and three others. 1t

GIRL ACCOSTED ON WAY FROM DONORA

Shortly after 12 o'clock this morning while on her way from her aunt's home in Donora to Monessen, 15 year old Agnes Marshall was accosted while transferring from one car to another at the bridge by three young Slavish boys who it is averred enticed her to the lower end of the street car line and as she says made improper advances to her. The three boys were arrested by Constable A. J. Smith and officers Wheatley and Lang and lodged in jail, being released later on forteits.

According to the story told by the girl who is still being held in the police station, she was asked to accompany the boys and being alone she agreed, thinking they would take her to her home on Second street. When the car reached the end of the line the four got off and went to a field nearby where they were found a short time later by the officers. Two of the boys attempted to escape but were caught before they had gone far. The girl and other boy could not be found at first but were located after a thorough search in the bushes near the road.

The boys gave their names as Mike Nararat, Steve Kubiska and John Dubinski. All are under 20 years of age. The hearing will be held in Squire Watkin's court some time this afternoon. The boys are guilty of a statuatory offense it is said and may be bound over for court.

Burgess' Brother Visits Home

Jacob Reamer, of Franklin, Pa., visiting his mother, Mrs. Mary Reamer, of Greensburg and his brother, County Commissioner W. D. Reamer, on his way home from the State G. A. He was a member of the 211th regiment during the Civil war. He is also a brother of Burgess Daniel Reamer of Monessen.

Miss Florence Green, of Uniontown returned yesterday to her home at that place after a pleasant visit of several days here with relatives.

The Depths of Depravity

Some few men will lose all the respect they have ever commanded from the public for business. They will support anything, they will sign any paper that comes along, provided that paper comes from the same source as some of their trade.

This class of merchant is as deadly as any other foe to the welfare, civic and moral, of a community. Think of it. Twenty Millwaukee business men set their names to a petition directing the District Attorney to save the red light district of that town because some of their customers were numbered among the demi-monde.

Can you imagine anything more damnable and more contemptible? Can you imagine anything that would make America's manhood or womanhood blush with more shame than an act of this kind?

When the matter became known in Milwaukee and the public eye was opened there was cause for explanation. One said he signed because another had signed. The other said he didn't look at the petition and another said he signed to get rid of the petitioner.

Whatever prompted these fosterers of prostitution to sign the paper or whatever the outcome is, the very act ought to teach merchants of other communities not to put their names to a paper or give endorsement to an act of any kind that may afterwards call forth an explanation or an apology. The Chester Times in commenting on the affair says that we doubt if the perfervid imagination of Dante ever conceived so terrible a picture as that petition of the Milwaukee business men depicted. If he did, he must have cast it aside as too terrible to set down in writing, for his immortal epic contains nothing that can approximate it in horror. We do not believe it possible for twenty business men to have set their names to a public petition asking that the most deadly and destructive of all vices be allowed to run its course in the very shadow of their homes. Yet it has actually happened and the decent citizenship of the country will stand aghast at the depth of degradation to which these men have sunk.

We shudder when we read of the licentiousness that prevailed among the Roman aristocrats when the republic was at the height of its power; but nothing that they ever did was even comparable with what these Milwaukee merchants have done openly and unblushingly. It is an awful commentary on the depravity that is beginning to rear its brazen head in every American city.

Once More the Titanic

Mr. J. Bruce Ismay has been before the Titanic inquiry in London. By the way, that inquiry is as long drawn out as our own investigation, and just as many foolish questions have been asked.

"You knew that you did not have boats to accommodate all of the passengers and crew, didn't you?" asked Sir Rufus Isaacs, the attorney general.

"I did," replied Mr. Ismay without hesitation.

Of course he knew it. And so did the British Board of Trade, that singularly lax organization that has undertaken to look after shipping interests and pass upon the safety of passengers. Not only did Mr. Ismay know that there were not boats enough, not only did the Board of Trade know it, but every intelligent passenger who has crossed the ocean for some years past has known that in case of such an accident as befell the Titanic only a portion of those aboard could survive. But there has been no protest.

Why not? Because ocean travelers have got into the way of believing that the modern monster is unsinkable. The steamship lines have fostered this belief. The Board of Trade has deemed a serious accident extremely unlikely. So there you are.

Well, everybody has been at fault. Now there is a rush to equip every transatlantic steamship with ample lifeboats. But the fact that lifeboats alone are sought shows conclusively that in all of these years no advancement whatever has been made in the way of providing safety. The life boat is well enough in mild weather. It is a death trap in rough weather. There must be something to take its place good in all kinds of weather.

Where is the marine architect that will solve this problem, which is really the most important one concerning ocean travel?

Retort and Comment

"Roosevelt headed for Chicago" says a headline in an exchange. We thought so. But there isn't much use now unless he takes a musket and plenty of buckshot. The Colonel doesn't look much like a winner now and it may take the big stick at that convention to pull him through. If the people say go to the convention, Colonel, he'll go.

If there is a teamster in this town that refused to contribute a small amount to the "ash fund" he deserves the kind of treatment he gets. Neither the state, county nor township has any right to build roads for such a fellow. The Almighty believes in helping those who help themselves, and since it's a divine teaching it ought to be passed along.

The man who calls himself a chrisitan and steals his religion while he hoards up every dollar of his money for selfish purposes has mighty small chances of getting through if what we read in the good book is true. There is to be no discrimination among misers.

The Cannonsburg Notes is wrothy because this paper said it was published in the land of strawberries together with an intimation that it had also taken a taste of the luscious fruit in exchange for subscription. Don't worry brother, no harm. It might have been an even exchange.

We can see clearly the image of the nominee of the Chicago convention for President. He is white, has hair on his head, has or has not a mustache, dresses neatly and answers to the name of—say—Molly, did you wind the clock?

The Uniontown Genius publishes a lengthy story explaining why the Taft-Roosevelt show is so much greater than the Barnum-Bailey but the average fellow who loves amusement can't help but think they are both good.

The Bentleyville burgess is on a strike. He wants his salary increased from $50 to $150.00 a year. The increase should be allowed by all means. A good burgess ought to be worth $150.00 a year to most any town.

The Appeal to Reason was slapped down on our desk this morning. The first article we saw when picking it up was. "The angel of peace is all shot to pieces." If that's true nothing has done more to shoot it to pieces than the "Appeal."

When announcing for office it is not only necessary to say "My hat is in the ring," but add, "I am for the fellow who beats me." That will show what kind of stuff a loser is made of.

A newspaper that doesn't stir up something occasionally. Something of interest to the public is no better in so far as the town is concerned than the morgue. This paper never wants to be called a morgue.

Grafter Montgomery of bank wrecking fame was given a furlough from prison to testify for the clerk who was associated with him when the institution went up. His testimony saved the clerk.

The Mayor of New York says he is satisfied in his own mind that he has done a great work. Wonder what would happen to New York if he would lose his mind.

If picture theatres have joined the general movement to raise the admission price, the people can very easily even up by going to see the pictures half as often.

Billy Sunday is converting lawyers by the drove. Now what will those fellows who are prejudiced against Sunday have to say for themselves?

Is Mr. Roosenvelt going to get possession of the White House again. It looks mighty doubtful at this writing. But he may, he may.

They are talking of coining half cent pieces. If they come it will increase the demand for peck measures.

A man who blows his own horn too much is generally not able to play second fiddle in the community in which he lives.

You can't get your shoes shined in Monessen on Sunday but you can get most any thing else you want.

We're it for Job Work

The Rescue

"Isn't you goin' to have another piece of candy?" asked the girl who had not been long from the land of Dixie. Then she put her hand over her mouth and laughed gleefully through her fingers. "It nearly drives Sister Mattie crazy to have me say 'ain't' the way I do," she went on, "but somehow I don't reckon I ever will get over doin' it.

"Another thing that just about embarrasses Sister Mattie to death is the way I talk to strangers. I know nearly everybody in the apartment buildin' now and she don't know hardly any of 'em. Sister Mattie's lived up north so long she's just like northern people.

"Speakin' of talkin' to strangers, there's the sweetest lookin' young man lives in the apartment across the hall from us. I've been crazy to know him ever since I've been here, and I knew he was all ready to speak to me if I gave him the least little bit of chance, but I was so scared of Sister Mattie that I never dared to. Every time we'd meet in the hall, though, or in the elevator he'd kind o' look at me and I'd kind o' look at him.

"I reckon we'd 'a' gone on like that all summer if it hadn't been for the fire the other mornin'.

"Yes, indeed, my dear, we did have a perfectly terrible fire. It was about 2 o'clock in the mornin', such a scandalous time for anything to happen!

"The first I knew about it was when Sister Mattie came into my room and begun poundin' me. 'Get up! Get up!' she was sayin' when I opened my eyes. 'The house is on fire!'

"I jumped up out of bed and begun floppin round the room and screamin'. Still, I had enough presence of mind to go back after my black satin slippers when I got clear to the top of the stairs and Sister Mattie was tuggin' at my arm and tryin' to make me hurry down. Of course, the first thing I did was to get my best hat and put it on and then I put on my white shoes and my kimono, too, because Sister Mattie kep' worryin' me so about it, runnin' around behind me with it in her hand.

"Well, my dear, I give you my word, I was clear down on the street when I suddenly had the most awful feelin' I ever had in my life. I'd come off and left my hair! Now, could you ever believe it? My beautiful long switch that I paid $2 an inch for!

"I just knew I'd never in the world get money enough to get another one and I had the most awful vision of me goin' around the rest of my life with just the hair that grows on my head and I nearly fainted. For a minute I was so weak I couldn't move and then I simply tore back up the stairs. When I was about half way up I heard somebody gallopin' after me. What do you think? It was that lovely young man across the hall!

"'Let me go and get it for you, Miss Robinson,' he said. Wasn't it sweet of him to know what my name was?

"I was just pantin' by that time, I was so out of breath, and bein' so kind o' crazy and excited, I just told him the truth. 'It's my hair,' I said. 'I'm afraid you wouldn't know where to find it.'

"Well, for a minute I thought he'd die laughin', and it wasn't any laughin' matter, I thought, so I started on up again. He took hold of my arm, though, and said for me to go on downstairs, and he asked me where my hair was. By that time he'd got over laughin', so I told him it was on the dresser, and he went on up and I went down to the street.

"I didn't have any more than time to begin thinkin' how perfectly terrible I'd feel when he came back wavin' that hair in his hand. I was thinkin' maybe it'd be better to have gone through life lookin' kind o' moth eaten than to face such a terrible situation, when he came down the stairs and came up to me and handed me my hair. What do you think? He'd stopped and wrapped it up in a piece of paper! Wasn't that the sweetest thing you ever heard of? My dear, could any girl have helped fallin' in love with him?

"No, the fire didn't amount to a hill of beans. We all went back to our rooms in about half an hour, but Mr. Sheldon came over the next morning to ask how we were. Wasn't that sweet of him? And Sister Mattie found he knows some people that she knows and she asked him to come to dinner, and he's been over every day since.

"Sister Mattie's just as crazy about him as I am, but I never did tell her about the hair. I know she'd think it was perfectly scandalous."

An "Appreciation."

A young lady who had returned from a tour through Italy with her father informed a friend that he liked all the Italian cities, but most of all he loved Venice.

"Ah, Venice, to be sure!" said the friend. "I can readily understand that your father would like Venice, with its gondolas, and St. Mark's, and Michelangelos."

"Oh, no," the young lady interrupted, "it wasn't that. He liked it because he could sit in the hotel and fish from the window."—Catholic News.

THINGS ALL OUGHT TO KNOW

As Christian Bible Students—The Satisfactory Proof of "Why God Permits Evil."

One of the questions which comes to nearly every thinking mind today is, "Why does God permit evil?" As we look about us in the world we observe that it is filled with sorrow and trouble, sickness and pain and every trial we could enumerate, and we cannot help wondering WHY GOD ALLOWS IT. We realize that He is almighty and that He could prevent it if He wished. We read in His Word that He is more willing to do for His children than are earthly parents for theirs, and we know how much that means; yet often times, it seems that those who try to do and live right have the most trouble. This question is made very clear in a book entitled, "The Divine Plan of the Ages." Every statement is backed by Scripture, and shows that while God does not sanction evil HE HAS ALLOWED SIN AND DEATH TO REIGN FOR THESE LONG SIX THOUSAND YEARS. This and many other subjects of deep interest to all of God's people are discussed fully and in language easy of comprehension.

PROFITABLE DAILY TITHING.

"Daily Heavenly Manna."

This little book is having the largest circulation of any of its kind and is conceded by Christians everywhere to be the most helpful.

If Christians allow the rush and crush of selfish ambition to deprive them of their daily portion of heavenly food, they must not be surprised if they grow spiritually leaner day by day, and if the peace of God gives place in their hearts to the discontent which is growing in the world, notwithstanding the multiplication of our comforts and privileges.

Daily Heavenly Manna contains a collection of Scripture texts with appropriate quotations for every day in the year. Surely the little tithe of time daily spent in partaking of its morsels of heavenly counsel cannot fail to profit all who partake. It is published to do good—not for profit.

Your Friends' Birth Dates.

An autograph and birthday record feature in this book is a great convenience. Opposite each day of the year are blank lines upon which you can secure the autographs of your friends and be reminded of their birthdays as they occur. This makes the book more valuable yearly. In ten years you would not sell it for ten dollars.

Besides it has a place for Birth Records, Marriage Records and Death Records. Also it has a table showing the day of the week of any date for one hundred and fifty years.

Knowing that Doan's Kidney Pills were good for kidney complaint, I procured a supply from the Hirsch Drug Co. Their use helped me from the first and before long I was cured. AN ALMOST PROFESSIONAL BALL MIX-UP

Last evening on the Electic park grounds the Regulars and Yanigans of the freight station mixed 'er up in a 5 round bout that had all the ear marks of a game played in the park at Forbes Field. All the celebrities were there. "Marty O'toole" Forbes, "Hans Wagner" Neill. "Fred Clarke" Woods and numerous others which even space cannot describe. At any rate when Umpire William Kurn yelled "Play Ball" a deathly silence fell over the players of both teams as they didn't know who was to bat first and each side was afraid to take the field for fear they would not get their tips. Finally Umpire Kurn started them and the game progressed in great shape with the exception of every other minute when the contest was interrupted until the players could show the umpire where he had made a grievous error of judgment in deciding a play. The score as near as was remembered is as follows. If errors counted the Yanigans would have won in a walk.

Benefi Game Won by Page

The benefit game played last evening between the Methodists and the Page A. A. resulted in a 7 5 victory for the Page boys. The contest was a trifle slow and both teams put up a ragged game at times although interest in the contest never lagged. The game was for the benefit of Harry McFall who has been sick for some time. A good sized crowd was in attendance.

Mr. C. N. McCandless of Monessen and Miss Hazel Reed of Butler, were quietly united in marriage at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. T. Reed at noon, Saturday June 8, 1912, by the Rev. E. J. K pastor of the Methodist Episcopal church. After the ceremony a wedding breakfast was served. The couple then came to Monessen where their future home will be. The groom is one of our popular young men, being employed in the office of the Pittsburgh Steel mill; he is also a member of the Methodist ball team.

The bride was one of Butler's most popular young ladies, both socially and religiously, being an earnest worker in the Methodist church and Sunday school. Mr. and Mrs. McCandless are now stopping at the Park hotel and will soon go to house keeping in a new home of their own. In the meantime they are receiving abundant congratulations and good wishes for future prosperity and happiness. The office force of the Pittsburgh Steel mill, where Mr. McCandless is employed, presented the couple today with a handsome 32 piece silver ware set as a token of their esteem. The presentation speech was made by W. W. Williams and the token was presented by Chief Clerk George Sherwin.

A box social will be held in the English Lutheran Church this evening for the b nefit of the Luther League, and a most cordial invitation is extended all to be present, for a most enjoyable time is assured. The boxes will all be just as nice as they can be, a most charming young lady to go with each one, and it is assured that the price limit will be $1.00. So none need have any compunction about going, for that will be the limit of their expense. Aside from the boxes there will be refreshments such as ice cream, cones, cake, etc., that can be bought by any who so desire. So remember, and be on hand at the St. Pauls English Lutheran church at 7:30 and not later than 8 o'clock this Tuesday evening and get the benefi of the entire evening's pleasures.

THE GREAT JUNE FROST IS ALMOST REPEATED

What has for 53 years been referred to by the old and told in story to the young, as the "great June frost" has almost been repeated in reality during the past few nights more particularly Friday, Saturday and Sunday. Each of Saturday, Sunday and Monday mornings frost was so heavy in the outlying districts of Westoreland, Washington and Fayette counties that it was almost like snow and ice to considerable thickness was formed. In talking to farmers and gardeners who have been in Monessen yesterday and today we are informed that considerable damage has been done to gardens and early fruits. Of course the later varieties and more hardy fruits have escaped the chill of the frost, but vegetables and spring flowers in many p aces have been frozen black. Some places right here in Monessen, and in the lower, down-town districts, plants, such as tomato and cabbage, that had been planted early and gotten an elegant start had to be re set yesterday.

The June frost, which was the heaviest to fall in this month, during the history of our land, ocurred June 5th, 1859, just 53 years ago Wednesday of last week, when every green thing was cut to the ground. Fruit was destroyed and early corn that had grown almost knee high had to be re-planted. However, the weather man has condescended to inform us that the backbone of the cold spell has been broken, and that now we may have no further fear of the great frost of '59 being repeated.
